Check Your Detectors

If you don't know the general life span of your smoke and carbon monoxide detectors, you're not alone! It is a general rule of thumb to change out smoke detectors every 10 years and change out carbon monoxide detectors every 7 years. You can determine the date of manufacture by looking on the side or back of the alarm.

Change Your Filters

There are many things to factor in when it comes to the life span of your HVAC filter. Specifically, the type your system requires, pets, the number of overall air quality in your area, and the number of occupants in your home. A general rule of thumb is to switch them out every 30-90 days, depending on the above listed factors.

DAVE'S TIPS

Have an Escape Plan

In the unfortunate event of a fire in your home, make sure your family knows what to do. Especially in bedrooms, have two ways out. Plan to meet outside the front of your home at a safe distance until help has arrived and do not re-enter your home until it is safe. Make sure to practice your escape plan with your family regularly.
